

FJG take the lead on client privacy with new system

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

16 APRIL 2018 - Essex law firm Fisher Jones Greenwood LLP (FJG) has introduced Egress Switch – an email and file encryption system that further improves client privacy.

The new system now allow emails and file transfers to be sent and received with government and industry-certified security and authentication for all clients and staff. Recipients will receive an invite to view the encrypted messages in the FJG portal, also removing any email client enforced size restrictions for important files.

The software also allows users to stay in control after communication has been sent with a comprehensive set of options to control sharing and user access remotely.

Peter Carr, head of IT at FJG commented, “We take our clients privacy very seriously and have collaborated with Egress Switch to provide a secure email platform for all our staff and clients. The new GDPR compliant system brings added convenience for our clients when sending important documents and means that client data is more secure than ever”.
